(b) A person liable under subsection (a) of this section is also liable for any other ordinance violation committed in pursuance of the intended ordinance violation if reasonably foreseeable by the person as a probable consequence of committing or attempting to commit the ordinance violation intended.

(c) A person who intentionally aids, advises, hires, counsels or conspires with, or otherwise procures another to commit an ordinance violation and thereafter abandons the purpose and makes a reasonable effort to prevent the commission of the ordinance violation prior to its commission is not liable if the ordinance violation is thereafter committed.

Sec. 18-200. Custody of Property.

The chief of police will take custody of all personal property, including lost money, lawfully coming into the possession of the city and city employees in the course of municipal operations and remaining unclaimed by the owner. The chief of police must retain the property in a safe place for a period of at least 60 days, unless claimed by the true owner with satisfactory proof of ownership. The chief must keep a record of the property, including its disposition.

Sec. 18-201. Disposition of Property.

Property held in custody by the chief of police and not claimed by the true owner within 60 days will be deemed abandoned. The chief of police may dispose of non-monetary abandoned property in one of the following ways:

1. Sell the property at public sale following 10 days published notice in the official newspaper;

2. Return lost property to its finder;
3. Convert usable property to city use; or

If not lawfully claimed by the true owner with adequate proof of ownership during that time, non-monetary property may be disposed of in accordance with Section 18-201. Sale proceeds and seized money may then be deposited in the police department forfeiture and seizure account to be used only for law enforcement purposes.

Sec. 18-205. Claim of Former Owner.

If the former owner of property disposed of at public sale makes application and furnishes satisfactory proof of ownership within six months of the sale, he/she shall be paid the proceeds of the sale of his property less the costs of storage and the proportionate part of the cost of published notice and other costs of the sale.
